Ubuntu - Africa's world view from where they derive relational, communal, societal, environmental and spiritual knowledges, values and practices - is slowly being revived as an important framework for social work in Africa and globally. In this webinar, we shall discuss some insights from a first ever survey on the use of Ubuntu in social work education and practice, as well as a focus on Ubuntu informed ethics. We shall host 3 renown researchers on Ubuntu who will also draw from their upcoming edited book , 'Ubuntu and decolonising social work fields of Practice (Routledge, 2024).
